Academic Clubs Under Fire

SG Budget Requests Spiral

Santry Calls For
New Guidelines

Broad and increased spending in the area of clubs and organizations, particularly academically oriented ones, has prompted Student Government President Frank Santry to propose a new system for allocating budgets.

The present system, according to Santry, is growing out of proportion.

"This year $18,000 was allocated to clubs and organizations of which $3,000 was held in reserve by the budget committee. Of the remaining $15,000 allocated, $9,600 was given to academically oriented clubs," said Santry.

"We are particularly concerned with meeting our responsibility to help clubs obtain needed funds," said Santry. "However, we are seeking to encourage academic departments also to give aid to academically oriented clubs."

Left unchecked, and taking into consideration current growth of budget requests as opposed to monies available, these academic clubs would receive between 70 and 80 per cent of the total Student Government budget.

Santry's seven-point proposal will limit the amount of funding of academically oriented clubs, force the departments to sponsor extracurricular activities and give the clubs an incentive to raise some monies on their own.

"I had considered vetoing several of the budget requests which did pass the senate," said Santry, "but after approaching several of the college deans we found that no department monies were immediately available for such a program."

After much discussion, Santry explained, he decided to go ahead and accept the budgets in question this year. "By next year, however," he added, "we hope to institute the new program or some form of it. We have received a very favorable response from the administration to this or a similar program, and we have been assured that there will be no legal problems involved in using state funds for this type of program."

The seven-point proposed program is as follows:

(1.) Divide all clubs and organizations into two basic categories: academically oriented and nonacademically oriented.

(2.) Place each academically

Elf Contest
Dates Given

The FTU Christmas tree is being decorated Saturday, Nov. 27, 7 to 9 p.m. in the Multi Purpose Room, and all students are invited to help with the decorations.

The Tree Decoration Party begins the Christmas season at FTU, which will lead to the Christmas Dance December 3. There will also be a snowball fight and an Elf Contest.

The Elf contest is part of the Christmas Dance itself, and competition is for Mr. and Miss Elf of FTU. Requirements for the contest is a 2.0 average. Santa Claus's role is also a contest, which is open to all male faculty and staff members. Entry blanks are available in the VC office. Campaigning begins Tuesday, and voting will be in the Snack Bar November 30 and December 1.

Alpha Kappa Pi Fraternity has challenged ATO to a snowball fight December 2 at 7 p.m. on the Village Center Green. The snowball fight contest is also open to other FTU organizations who want to issue challenges.

"Red and Green Day," December 3, is the day of the dance, and all students are urged by the Christmas committee to wear the traditional Christmas colors of red and green.

The dance itself, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. in the Multi Purpose Room, features "Fire," a group from New York. The dress is formal or semi-formal, and a photographer will be there to take pictures of couples with Santa Claus.

New Construction Set

By Harry Smith

Room, room, and more room is the word from the department of campus planning. Following the present Village Center construction will be a new Humanities Building, and in the distant future there are plans for a Biological Science Laboratory Building.

At present the Village Center project is progressing "on time," according to Fred Clayton, director of University physical planning. Completion of the new Village Center is scheduled for August 1, 1972.

The center, when completed, will house recreational rooms and facilities for student activities. Cafeteria facilities presently located in the Multi Purpose Room of the existing VC facilities will be moved to a permanent location in the new structure.

Other campus construction now in progress is the extension of utilities services behind the General Classroom Building. The extension of the utilities services to the area is the first step in preparing to accommodate the forthcoming Humanities Building.

The Humanities Building is still in the planning stages, Clayton said. He further stated that January is the "hopeful" date for the beginning of construction.

The building will include offices for the humanities faculty and 11 classrooms. Housed in the building will also be the art and music departments. An annex to the building will provide facilities for rehearsals by the music department.

LAST FuTure

Registration
'Fairly Quick,'
Some Delay

Despite computer failures Tuesday and Wednesday, the traffic flow during the first two days of advance registration went fairly smoothly. "If the computers had worked, registration would have been much smoother," I. Edward Knight, records and registration director, said.

He added that while the computer was in operation, "no one was crowded" and persons were "eased through" the process. "It was so smooth that I thought we'd only registered about 500, (Tuesday) when it was actually 1,097," Knight said.

Tuesday there were minor 15-minute setbacks, but the big one came about 3:30 p.m. while the computer went down for about an hour. Registrar W. Dan Chapman said the reason for the delay was that the Gainesville computer started rejecting a particular course.

The last issue of the FuTure for fall quarter will come out December 3; there will be no paper next week due to the Thanksgiving holiday. Any announcements or notices for the last issue may be submitted to the FuTure office in LR 213 by noon November 30.

700 New Voters

Sign Up At FTU

The Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity-sponsored voter registration campaign was termed "successful" with exactly 700 students registering. Totals included 335 registrations on Tuesday and 365 on Wednesday. "The turnout wasn't as good as we expected for Wednesday and preregistration could have caused some conflict, but the campaign was successful," said LXA brother Dennis Phipps.

Party affiliations were estimated to have been evenly divided with approximately 10-15 per cent registering with no party. One registration clerk said that probably more men than women registered, but final figures on party affiliation and sex of those registered were not available.

Students Can Succeed

Student-oriented moves, when directed through proper channels, have a tendency to be seriously considered by the university and ultimately implemented.

Such has been the case in at least three instances concerning problems of importance to students. The first two involved the changing of the senior seminar system and revamping the block system. The most recent, an extension of library hours, was initiated this week. The hours have been extended due to a student-guided petition and request, for the convenience of students. This change should prove worthwhile to residents, to commuters and to students with night classes, desiring a few extra hours of research and study after classes.

ASSISTANT VICE President for Academic Administration, Leland Jackson says that the hour change is not on a trial basis. Funds will be reallocated from various other budgets within the university to implement the change.

Lynn W. Walker, director of libraries, says that the hours will probably go back to a closing time of 10 p.m. if the new hours are not utilized.

Whether or not the library will be used is up to the students, but it is important to consider that the service will not be of interest to all students and therefore success should not be judged on quantity.

NUMBERS OF student using library facilities at night are quite low compared to daytime statistics but this is to be expected, regardless of how late the library is open. However, these figures should change at least slightly with the extension.

Students have once again proven themselves as mature persons interested in positive changes that will benefit the university. Radical methods are not always necessary for change.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I suggest that FTU Blvd. be extended into the main campus in order to link up with the parking lots. The present single entrance leaves much to be desired. There is still time and vacant land, as far as I know, with which to develop a functional traffic control system for FTU. However, if buildings are constructed between the Alafaya Trail - FTU Blvd. intersection and the west parking lots, it may be impossible to prevent traffic problems in that area.

Also, it would be a good idea in my opinion to investigate the feasibility of a separate entrance on the east side of the campus for those persons coming from the Titusville area. The overall traffic patterns needed as this institution grows to its projected 25,000-member student body should be the first priority concern. Buildings can always be constructed on land used temporarily as parking lots.

'Hootenanny' Stars To Appear At VC

The Serendipity Singers are coming to FTU Monday at 11 a.m. The musical group whose "Crooked Little Man" sold a million copies and whose name sent people to the dictionary, will be appearing on the Village Center Green for two hours.

The group was first formed in 1963 at the University of Colorado, and their first major engagement was at the Bitter End Cafe in New York City. They became regulars on TV's Hootenanny Show. Since then they have performed at 800 colleges in 49 states, recorded six albums and have toured 15 countries. They have appeared on such television programs as Johnny Carson's Tonight Show, Dean Martin Show, Kraft Music Hall, Mike Douglas Show and Ed Sullivan Show, and have made over 30 specials, including a Christmas program last year.

Serendipity, from the children's story about the three princes of Serendip who search for one thing and find another, is a word which means the ability of making desirable discoveries by accident.

Radical Author, Viet War Writer To Speak At VC

"Esquire" war correspondent and author of "Lieutenant Calley" John Sack will speak on the Village Center Green Tuesday at 11 a.m.

His topic is "Greetings..." and is about the "whole truth about the American Army."

John Sack may be the only radical writer in America with top secret clearance. Since 1965 he has lived with the army—participating in bayonet practice and beer parties, and often joining combat troops in the field. He has interviewed a major who chooses each soldier for Vietnam duty.

Sack was personally selected by Calley to write "Confessions of Lt. Calley" for "Esquire," and Sack also wrote "Lt. Calley" for Viking Press. He lived with Calley during the time and was called Calley's constant companion by "Newsweek." When the Army subpoenaed his tapes of Calley's "Confessions," Sack refused and was arrested. He was freed on bail and told Congress and the National Book Awards, as well as audiences, information he refused to give the Army.

Sack has also written two books about U.S. and Southeast Asian wars. The latest is about Vietnam and is entitled "M." This has already sold 100,000 copies.

THE SERENDIPITY Singers, former stars of television's Hootenanny Show, will perform Monday at 11 a.m. at the Village Center green. The eight-member group, which was formed in 1963, will perform for two hours.

The Criminal Justice Education Project of the Florida Division of Universities and the Division of Community Colleges presented a day-long law enforcement workshop entitled "Education Responds to the Needs of Criminal Justice" at FTU on November 10.

"We are trying to find a solution between what the people in the field want to do and what the educators want to do," said J. Price Foster, director of Criminal Justice Education in the State University System and director of the "Criminal Justice Manpower and Education Workshop Series."

War Movie Filmed By Theatre Dept.

Live-action filming of a student-written movie is being done this weekend, according to Dr. Harry Smith, assistant professor of theatre. The movie, written by FTU students Terry Crisp and Joe Akerman, is being produced by both the theatre department and the students. Filming began last summer in the Theatre Tent with battle scenes in a miniature German valley setting.

Entitled "Yesterday, Today, Tomorrow, The Day After, The Day After That," the movie is an independent study and should be completed by January. It is a 30-minute film complete with sound.

the Florida House Committee on Criminal Justice, delivered the keynote address.

Major topics of discussion included "What are the problems and issues of police, correctional, legal, prelegal and court management education? What are some of the major advantages of utilizing college level personnel, especially as related to recruiting, selecting and retaining these people?"

College law enforcement programs which provide a model for Florida's State University System are Michigan State University in East Lansing, Mich., State University of New York at Albany, and the University of Illinois at Chicago.

Approvals Given for Nationalization

Delta Tau Fraternity was officially approved for colonization with Delta Tau Delta National Fraternity, and Lambda Chi Alpha received permission to receive its charter last week. The University Ad Hoc Committee for Fraternities, whose members are fraternity advisors, granted approval at its November 3 meeting.

Delta Tau will now seek national approval from Delta Tau Delta and Lambda Chi Alpha will receive its charter in chartering ceremonies November 28.

Criteria for chartering and colonization included membership of 25 for colonization and 35 for chartering; full membership in Interfraternity Council; no suspension or probation with IFC; chapter GPA of no less than 2.1 for two consecutive quarters for colonization and GPA equivalent to or above all men's average for chartering; position to meet all financial obligations, and working relationship with the local alumni group. Additionally, all chartered chapters must have an active national alumnus associate member acting as chapter advisor.

At the present time, Alpha Tau Omega and Kappa Sigma are the only chartered fraternities at FTU. Tau Kappa Epsilon will receive its charter in December.

Two nationals, Chi Phi and Phi Kappa Psi are attempting to establish local groups at FTU to later be accepted as national colonies.

FTU Delegate Describes Reality Of Model Senate

By Tina Evans

An atmosphere of rivalry and debate was captured by the Model Senate which was held at Stetson University last weekend.

"We were supposed to vote, think and act like the senators we were portraying, and most representatives went along with this concept," said FTU student Bill Castellano who portrayed Senator Lawton Chiles.

In addition to Castellano, representatives from FTU included Robert Seidl, representing Edward Gurney; Grafton Carlson, representing J. L. McClellan, D-Ark., and Harry Barnes, representing Jennings Randolph, D-W. Va.

Also Martha Swann, representing William Fulbright, D-Ark., and Denis Noah, representing Robert Byrd, D-W. Va.

Three FTU representatives were on the 13-member Judiciary Committee, which was chaired by Carlson with Castellano as cochairman. The committee received an award for the most effective committee, and Carlson won an award for being the most effective committee chairman.

"Booby prizes" were also awarded in such categories as most obnoxious and most outspoken, and a senility award was presented to Castellano.

According to Castellano, some of the more important legislation included bills concerning social security benefits, withdrawal from Vietnam, legalization of marijuana and an anti-busing proposal.

The Senate voted to increase social security benefits, raising the minimum monthly payment to $200.

An immediate end to all combat action by the U.S. in Vietnam and total withdrawal was recommended by the Hatfield-Symington resolution, which was passed by a "good majority," according to Castellano.

"The general spirit of the debate on the bill was along the lines of 'we've talked long enough about ending our involvement in Vietnam—now let's do something about it,'" he added.

Voting on the Hatfield resolution caused Castellano some anxious moments when Chiles arrived to preside at the session: "I was particularly concerned about voting the way Chiles himself would vote because it was a borderline situation."

Rather than second guess, Castellano sent his opinion to the Senator and received his enthusiastic support.

The anti-busing bill, which was voted down in the floor by a decisive majority, was termed "unique" by Castellano.

"Those who voted for the bill were basically the Southern senators who have a record of being against civil rights, and at the other extreme was the Kennedy-McGovern-Muskie coalition who voted against the bill because it was anti-civil rights," said Castellano.

"Finally there were the moderates who advanced the opinion that busing isn't good, but it's the best thing we now have," he added.

In pinpointing the value of the Model Senate, Castellano said, "One of the biggest benefits was that we were able to put all the things we learned in class about legislative processes into practice."

"When you come right down to it, you can read how to drive a car, but you must experience driving to learn it," he added.

Cheerleaders Plan Basketball Pep Band

The FTU cheerleaders are working on a project to form a pep band to attend the basketball games and are in need of more musical talent. The 1971-72 squad consists of Dawn Thorton, captain; Carolyn Kerkow, cocaptain; Kathy Richardson, secretary; Bev Saxton, Rox Ridcosh, Eileen Brennan and Christl Rudolph.

The cheerleaders are dedicated to the support of FTU's sport teams, including basketball and wrestling, but will also be attending sports club events.

Students interested in the pep band are requested to contact Dr. Leonidas Sarakatsannis in the music department in the Village Center.

SG To Host: Primary Set For Students

Student Government will sponsor a statewide college student primary one week prior to Florida's Preferential Primary March 14, 1972.

The undertaking, dubbed "Project 7th of March" will take place on that date and ultimately is intended to be used as a comparison with the results of the actual primary according to Project coordinator Bill Castellano.

The project is geared to duplicate the primary process on several university, private college and community college campuses in Florida. "Student Government representing more than one-half of the state's college students are already committed to the project," said Castellano.

The actual scope of campaigning and publicity has not been described yet because no funds have been approved by the SG Senate.

The rationale behind the project was explained by Castellano as follows:

(1) College students represent approximately 300,000 Florida citizens and yet have no viable political lobbying force. Through this activity college students will be permitted to go on record regarding the potential candidates of both parties.

(2) Presidential aspirants might tend to concentrate more time and effort on the college campuses if they knew this major poll would be published just before the actual primary.

(3) By organizing political campaigns on the various campuses, not only do the students tend to gain additional insight, but perhaps some voter apathy can be broken down.

(4) This activity offers the opportunity to show the true spirit of Florida college students. Working together within the system, the college students of this state can show all that are willing to see that we are able to organize behind sound goals and ideals.

(5) "Project 7th of March" can be used in conjunction with campus voter registration drives. Only registered voters would be permitted to participate in the project.

Universities or colleges presently committed to the project include both campuses of Miami-Dade, Florida State University, University of South Florida, Palm Beach Atlantic and Florida Atlantic University.

format," said president of the VC board Devo Heller.

According to Heller, about $2,500 of the $4,000 transferred to programming is scheduled to be used for new programs such as an arts and crafts project, cards and games, and tours and outings, plus such activities as the spring formal, Christmas dance and the interdisciplinary program. The remaining $1,500 will be kept in reserve.

Funds amounting to $6,000 were transferred to a special fund for Homecoming, which has been tentatively scheduled for the week of February 13.

"We're going to try to involve more students and alumni in homecoming activities this year," said Heller. "Our plans are to combine traditional homecoming activities with the special characteristics of FTU.

"I think the transfer of funds is basically a good thing because it will eliminate many of the bureaucratic and bookkeeping problems inherent in the joint account, plus I think the VC has the students and resources to carry out the programs successfully," added Heller.

In accordance with these views, SG President Frank Santry observed that the new arrangement should serve everyone better.

The transfer of funds will eliminate the former joint account shared by SG and the VC for these activities.

'Owl And Pussycat' Are Just That

By Fran Elliott

The battle of the sexes is an old theme with a new twist in "The Owl and the Pussycat" by Bill Manhoff, playing during November at Sebastian's Dinner Theatre. For in this two-character play the "she" is plainly enough a prostitute and the "he" is an aspiring writer. The play is quite a verbal battle (very verbal at times) between these two characters with opposing philosophies of life.

The set for this play at Sebastian's cozy and attractive theatre is quite adequate, although there is not much detail present. But then there probably doesn't need to be, for even the girl in the play exclaims at one point that she doesn't find the apartment very appealing. However, there is one very distracting door that refuses to open or shut on cue.

Probably the most bothersome part of the entire performance to this viewer is the costuming. Somehow nearly every outfit doesn't seem appropriate -- either in the fit or in some cases the style. One of the most attractive technicalities is the perfect choice of music serving as transition during scene changes. It even sounds like a bird and a cat!

Doris W., played by a darling little girl, Perri Adair, is, it seems, alternately believable and unbelievable. She makes a rather athletic, yet graceful appearance and displays a lot of facial expression. She is particularly realistic in a long hiccup scene and a brief "getting comfortable with the TV" scene. One gets a feeling she is unconsciously "Barbra Streisand-ish" at times, particularly with her gestures.

Perri comes on extremely strong at the opening. She seems to be pushing a little, but after a while it is easy to feel empathy for Doris W. especially for the older folks in the audience when she says the line, "I feel guilty sleeping in a double bed, while people in China are sleeping on the ground." It is so well done it even justifies his joining her in the bedroom at the end of Act I.

Dan Verre is funny and in character as F. Sherman from the beginning to the end. It appears he greatly underplays the role of the innocent do-gooder who turns in his neighbor (the whore) to the landlord. As a matter of fact, he even looks like an owl with some of his facial expressions. Maybe this is due to the effective uses of his eyes.

He is particularly lovable when trying to save on Scotch by sneakily pouring some back into the bottle and in his defense of "God's little creatures" when Doris W. calls him some foul names. Once or twice, though, he does seem just a bit childish in his movement and expression.

Both Perri and Dan are at their best in Act III when planning their suicide pact and their cruel but humorous game of "who are you?"

Earlier in the show, F. Sherman claims "his first choice was never to have had her come" -- but she did and that's the crux of the story and the beginning of an unusual but hilarious love affair.

You may find a completely enjoyable evening on the town at Sebastian's for dinner and a live show. Certainly the price is right for students. The cute FTU couple at the next table only paid half of their full bill by showing their ID cards. You can't beat that.

The show is scheduled to run until the end of November, so join Doris W. and F. Sherman in their play of contemporary morals and manners and see what you think.

A CASH grant representing a full year's tuition scholarship for a minority student was presented to Dean Bernard Ostle (right), College of Natural Sciences, by D. R. Butler, branch manager of Honeywell Company's Field Engineering Operations. The grant was a total of $570.

Honeywell Gives Aid Grant

A cash grant representing a full year's tuition has been presented to FTU by the Honeywell Corporation to aid a minority student on campus.

The Field Engineering Division of Honeywell Information Systems, donor of the award, also may provide part-time employment for the selected student, and is considering a full-time position upon completion of his course of study if the recipient majors in computer science.

The $570 scholarship was presented to Dean Bernard Ostle of the College of Natural Sciences by D. R. Butler, Honeywell Branch Manager of Field Engineering. "It is requested that first preference for the scholarship be given to individuals referred by the Pinellas County School System," said Butler. The west coast county was selected because of Butler's continuing participation in adult and high school vocational education activities there.

"If a candidate from Pinellas who is acceptable to the university cannot be found," Butler said, "the university is at liberty to select one of its own choosing. This could include a minority student already enrolled who cannot continue with his education without outside aid."

Library Hours

The Senate unanimously passed a resolution to extend library hours at its October 21 meeting. The resolution, submitted by Senator Jim Brooks, suggested that the extension was necessary due to increased tuition, the emphasis on commuter students, inadequate study facilities and crowded library facilities.

Walker stated that increased hours and addition of student assistants would be the major change due to the extension of hours. "The library, like many others areas on campus, is seriously understaffed, but we will be able to increase the weekly hours of some student assistants and possibly hire more," said Walker. The library currently has a full-time staff of 32 and a part-time staff of 55 student assistants working from 10-15 hours per week.

"We are pleased to have the funds to extend the hours because we have recognized the need for a long time. If the students do not utilize the extra hours, we will probably go back to the old way," said Walker.

"Most of the students who signed the petition were apprehensive because they had signed petitions before that had no effect," said Erickson. "But this entirely student-oriented move has been successful because it was directed through channels the university would like to see."

Erickson said that he began the extension campaign because "there is not adequate place on campus to accommodate students who want to study later than 10 p.m. at night and all buildings close at 10 p.m."

Library personnel have been headcounting student use of the library every hour since its opening in October 1968. Library use has more than doubled in nearly every time slot since 1968.

The heaviest use hour for the library is between 10 and 11 a.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Average 10 a.m. figures in 1968 were 112 students as compared to present figures of 312.

According to library statistics, lowest student usage occurs during the later evening hours and on Sunday afternoons and evenings.

Registration

Registration started about 40 minutes later Wednesday morning due to another computer failure, but by noon appointment times were running about 15 minutes behind and by 1 p.m. appointments were on schedule.

There were some areas of congestion, but they were not severe. The largest crowd was usually the one at the library entrance where students waited for their times to be called. At peak delay periods there were at least 100 students waiting.

Once inside the door, most especially after a computer failure, lines formed at the first schedule check station and at the computer terminals, but these lines were not as long as they have been during previous quarters.

Crowds of persons were not confined only to the preregistration area. Voter registration sponsored by Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity drew good-sized lines Tuesday and Wednesday. Voter registration was held almost directly under the stairway, which itself became another source of congestion.

Students, eager to get a preview of closed classes from the screens set up near the stairs, lined the landing, sometimes making it difficult for students to use the stairs. The library lobby was at its peak of activity between classes, with traffic clogging the north entrance and entrance and exit corridors.

Club Budgets

oriented club under the academic department with which it is most closely associated.

(3.) Divide the clubs and organizations portion of the Student Government budget into the same two divisions: academic and nonacademic.

(4.) Place a ceiling on the academic portion of this budget based on a percentage of the funds available.

(5.) Place a ceiling on the amount each club can be funded based on a percentage of the funds as set in item 4.

(6.) Match no more than a two-to-one ratio of funds obtained through the department to Student Government funds. In addition, match by no more than a one-to-one ratio funds raised by a club to Student Government funds.

(7.) Every two years, all clubs will be reviewed and possibly placed under another department or category based on their past activities.

Such academically oriented clubs and organizations include, according to Santry, the Biology Club, Broadcasting Club, Chemistry Club, Industrial Engineering Club, Orpheus, Mechanical Engineering and Aerospace Sciences Organization, Physics Society and others.

The program would, under item 6, allow such organizations that cannot obtain funds from their respective departments to appeal directly to SG after raising some funds on their own and to receive matching funds.

Inventory Problems Spur Senate Action On Law Addendum

In the interest of keeping adequate control over and an inventory of "huge sums of operating capital outlay" of Student Government-funded clubs and organizations, the Senate passed an emergency addendum to the SG law governing the allocation of Student Government funds in these groups last week.

"In many cases," said SG President Frank Santry, "capital outlay numbering in the thousands of dollars has been invested by clubs in machinery or equipment which no one is able to locate now."

Under this new addendum, in order for organizations to receive funds from Student Government the president or chief executive of the club involved must submit a written statement to SG claiming "responsibility for all property held under the name of this organization and shall be accountable for the inventory thereof."

Further, the student body president will designate a committee of "not less than three senators to inspect the inventory of all clubs and organizations receiving capital outlay from the Student Government clubs and organizations account at least once per calendar year."

Although several senators disqualified themselves from voting on the measure and others abstained, the bill passed apparently on Santry's recommendation.

MODEL SENATE

THE GENERAL session of the U.S. Senate was copied closely by the Model Senate held at Stetson University last week. College students from all over the country were represented and each of them portrayed an actual member of the U.S. Senate.

GOVERNOR REUBIN Askew urges student senators to register to vote and "work within the governmental system" in a speech during the four-day Model Senate program.

THE AWESOME responsibility of legislating for the country is captured in the pensive pose of Senator Edward Gurney as portrayed by FTU political science major Robert Seidl.

SENATORS LAWTON Chiles (left), portrayed by Bill Castellano, and Ed Gurney, portrayed by Robert Seidl, animatedly discuss the appointment of a Supreme Court nominee from Florida. Both Castellano and Seidl were part of the six-member delegation from FTU.

FTU DELEGATE Martha Swann, portraying Senator William Fullbright, D-Ark., gets into the true spirit of the real U.S. Senate by taking part in a heated debate with other senators. All were members of the important Foreign Relations Committee.

Shakespeare Was Here, Signed Milton Dickson

A PORTLY, bearded gentleman, the epitome of a Shakesperean actor, arrived at FTU Tuesday and captivated a large audience with his witty and artful oral interpretations of many of the Bard's best comedies.

Milton Dickson, founder of the South Carolina Theatre Company performed excerpts from "As You Like It," "Much Ado About Nothing," "The Merchant of Venice" and many other comedies.

A CASUAL Glance at Milton Dickson performing excerpts from Shakespeare's comedies reveals slightly more than a good show. Dickson himself confessed that the wind was a problem.

A WISTFUL Glance at love and courtship is artfully captured in the photo taken near the reflecting pool.

A Glance at work and play on campus. Work symbolized by the sharply focused books in the foreground seems to beckon loudly while the softly-blurred play is more like a memory.

PRETTY GIRLS relaxing for a few moments may draw more than a passing Glance from male passersby.

A SOLITARY Glance at campus life focuses on the contrasting beauty of things natural and manmade.

ZTA

The Eta Kappa colony of Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority will be formally initiated and installed during the weekend of December 10-12. National and local Zeta alumnae officers are now making plans to attend the function, which will include initiation ceremonies, installation of officers and the chapter, a banquet dinner honoring the new chapter and a formal presentation of the chapter. Field advisor Jean Hannah will visit the FTU Zetas next week to finish preparations for initiation and will also be present at the ceremonies.

The Zetas have been cataloging records for WFTU-Radio for the past three weeks and will join forces again tomorrow to finish the job.

Zeta sisters acted as hostesses for Orlando General Hospital's annual ball earlier in the month. Sisters entertained members of Her Majesty's Royal Air Force who were in Orlando for the annual bombing trials.

Another service project for the community will occur January 15 when the Zetas will serve as ushers for the Central Florida Civic Association's presentation of Jose Greco at the Municipal Auditorium.

SSX

The brothers of Sigma Chi have a busy weekend planned. Activities will include a car wash, a social and a Thanksgiving dinner for the Tom Skinner Home.

The fall pledge class will have a car wash tomorrow at the Texaco station on East SR 50, next to Sears. The time is 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., and the cost is $1.

Tomorrow night there will be a party in the woods behind the house. There will be a big campfire to keep everyone warm and refreshments to keep everyone happy.

Sunday the brothers and little sisters will prepare Thanksgiving dinner for the children at the Skinner Home. Dinner will include two turkeys, a ham, potato salad, vegetables and desert. The Skinner Home cares for children from broken homes.

KS

The past week saw Kappa Sigma involved in many worthwhile activities.

On Thursday, the brothers and little sisters hosted Dean of Women Carol Wilson for a coffee at the house. Last Saturday night the hidden talents of many of the brothers and pledges were uncovered in the fraternity talent show. The little sisters also showed their talents by "borrowing" several items from the brothers and then auctioning opportunity to welcome in the new them back to them. The items ranged from guitars and jerseys to plaques and golf gloves.

Parent's Day, which was held on Sunday, proved to be a big success, with many parents visiting with the brothers, pledges and little sisters.

Finally, last Tuesday night, the dean of men visited the house to speak to the brothers and pledges about his role in the fraternity system at FTU.

Upcoming events of this weekend include a social with Tri-Delta which will be held today from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m.

DT

Delta Tau Delta Fraternity congratulates its pledges for the excellent efforts they have made during "help week" to make it a success. Tonight is activities night and the pledges may anticipate a number of interesting hours. The fall pledge class will be initiated Saturday, Nov. 20.

Basketball practice has begun. Interested brothers may contact Dave Taylor for the schedule.

TKE

This past week and coming weekend are designated as "Help Week" for Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity, winding up the pledgship of this fall's pledge class. This is the last opportunity the new brothers have to show their merit. They will be initiated this weekend. Congratulations to the new men of Tau Kappa Epsilon.

This past Saturday night, brothers, pledges and guests enjoyed a party at the Summitt Apartments. Tomorrow night at 8, the brothers will have another party at the by "borrowing" several items from Summitt. This will provide an opportunity to welcome in the new brothers in true TKE tradition.

Final statistics have been tabulated from the past Intramural football season. Don Jacobs led all scorers with 38 points; Eddie Barkes was a close second with 31 points.

TKE I is keeping up its winning tradition, defeating PAE last Thursday and SSX Monday. They are still undefeated and on their way to a second Greek volleyball championship in a row.

TKE II also has kept its great tradition. Last Thursday it dropped a game to SSX and this past Monday, won, using their best strategy, the forfeit.

ASPi

A professional function was held last Saturday consisting of a tour to Busch Gardens in Tampa and a cookout upon return to Orlando. Approximately 35 brothers, guests, members of the faculty and one professional "goat handler" attended.

XBA night and opportunity party will be held to night. Alumni, brothers and pledges will attend this rather unique happening.

Plans for the Christmas party on December 11 are presently underway. The crowning of the Rose Queen will also be held at this function. Brothers are requested to select their candidates for the Rose Queen and give them to Howard Hickok as soon as possible.

The brothers would like to extend best wishes to brother Erick Gamble and Becky Ruland, and to brother Duane Williams and Jackie Green on their upcoming marriages.

PAE

The Phi Alpha Epsilons recently got together at the La Aloma Recreation Room for a party. Brother Joe Cam received the E.H.A. award for his display of automotive maneuvering.

The brothers have started working on a community project called "Youth Projects." They will work with underprivileged children, organizing sports and work activities for them.

Phi Alpha's volleyball endeavors proved successful as the "E's" wrapped up victories over Pikes and LXA.

This week also brought the celebration of Gary Timinski's birthday. After the meeting Monday night, brothers and pledges proceeded to Mark Thornton's woods to celebrate in a traditional Phi Alpha manner.

The Phi Alpha Epsilon pledge class will play the ATO pledge class this Sunday afternoon for a keg. The pledge class will also be holding a car wash next Friday at the BP station on the corner of SR 436 and Howell Branch Road.

TEP

The brothers of Te-Phi are proud to announce the names of their new little sisters. They are Anita Lorenz, Becky Thigpen, Sandy Atkinson, Paula Munroe and Landy Watson. Friday, Dec. 9, at 8:30 p.m., the new little sisters will hold their initiation ceremony, with a party afterwards. All activities will be held at the Regency Apartments and the dress will be semiformal.

At the Sunday business meeting, the brothers will hold nominations for offices for fall and winter quarters. The voting will take place at the November 28 meeting, along with voting on the pledges.

The pledges will hold their pledge party December 4 and the brothers have set the pledge's hell night for December 5.

ATO

This afternoon there is a "Tea and Crumpets" social with Tyes sorority at 4 p.m. at the ATO house. Following the social there will be a dance, again at the house, starting at 8 p.m. with "Gun" supplying the music.

Tomorrow night there will be a little sister party at Le Bonnie Vie clubhouse on Conway Road. The party starts at 8:30 p.m. and all prospective little sisters are invited.

Annual pictures will be taken at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the house. Dress will be shirt and tie.

All the ATO's hopes of a repeat win are resting on the shoulders of Marc Stockwell and Judy Moore. They are the ATO representatives in the Mr. and Miss Elf contest. Mr. and Mrs. Jerry McGratty won the contest last year and are defending champions.

Tyes

Instead of a business meeting this week, Tyes met at Foxcroft for a work party. The project was making ties for AKPi Fraternity. An assembly line was set up, with some girls cutting out the patterns, others sewing the pattern pieces together on sewing machines and the rest turning the ties right-side out and hand-stitching them. All in all, it was a very profitable evening.

Tyes football team has been practicing and trying to get back in shape for football season. The team looks pretty good thanks to the expert (?) guidance of Coach D'Amato. Everyone is looking forward to a winning season this year. 10-10-10.

To cap this busy week there is a social with ATO this afternoon. It is being held at the ATO house.

The beach party planned for tomorrow night has been cancelled. Another date social will probably be held at the beginning of winter quarter.

LXA

Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity sponsored voter registration Tuesday and Wednesday with a publicity campaign that included pictures and articles in the Sentinel. On Tuesday 344 students registered and lines were long on Wednesday. Lambda Chis wish to express their thanks to supervisor of elections Dixie Barber for her cooperation which ended in a successful voter registration campaign.

Twenty-three new Lambda Chi brothers will be initiated tonight, making LXA one of the largest fraternities on campus. The 53-member-strong fraternity was able to field three volleyball teams.

An LXA national consultant spent this week with the brothers, helping to finalize the charter banquet plans.

Puppeteers Tour College Campuses

By Weber Ivy and Beth Weilenman

It began when Mark Shobin, a University of Maryland senior, sponsored the appearance at his school of the touring Blackbird Theatre from Portland, Maine. Joining the group after his graduation, Mark toured with the puppet theatre in a four-month trek that took him across the country to San Francisco and eastward again to Ohio, where the 10 members of the Blackbird Theatre scattered.

But with the end of the Blackbirds came the beginning of the Goodweather Puppeteers, the pairing of Mark Shobin and Becky Schurman. That was last spring.

Since then, they have wandered from city to city, campus to campus, teaching Knoxville children how to make puppets, and living up to the "Goodweather" in their name by performing with modest props under a clear, sunny sky to an impromptu audience sunning itself on the grass.

Monday they delighted a gathering on the south side of the Village Center, not with puppets but with a hand-powered Cranky Movie

Show featuring "King Midas or the Birds of Plenty" and "Chicken Little or the Story of the World."

Accompanied by Becky on drums, kazoo and plastic whistle, including vocals by Linger, their dog, Mark narrated stories using a scroll within a frame to illustrate them and a trumpet to accent his story.

The stories were altered a bit from the originals told to gradeschool children, but there were no heavy political overtones. Becky explained that based on her theatrical training, many of the political plays she had seen, especially the women's liberation plays, were "speeches - they're not theatre."

The first Cranky Movie, an interesting variation of the classic tale of Midas, climaxed when Midas' remote control battery-powered finger on wheels went berserk and gilded everything in the kingdom, including Midas.

"Chicken Little" turned out to be a droll Adam who developed a falling-sky complex when an apple fell on his head in the garden. Eve was ably portrayed by Becky. Of course, they were evicted by the Boss after eating the fateful fruit and pushed out into the "real world" without benefit of a Social Security number.

She and Mark wrote their version of the stories, and they have several more in the works.

"We're limited right now because there are only two of us," she said, adding that they will spend about four months on the West Coast to recruit two or three more people during their California stay.

The Puppeteers usually play college campuses because they are the easiest places to get a chance to perform. After touring campuses, the two said they noted a paranoia steadily growing, especially on the part of the administrations.

"We're always asked how radical our material is, or how obscene it is. Of course the most conservative colleges are harder." However, the two have even found difficulty in California, which usually has a reputation for freer regulations.

Mark and Becky have an engaging talent for poking fun at themselves. At one point in their version of the Midas muff, the royal gold fiend was advised: "Maybe we could send troupes of stupid puppeteers throughout the kingdom to perform on college campuses."

Midas snapped, "There's no money in that! Get lost!"

Indeed, there is never an admission charge at a Goodweather Puppeteer performance; either the audience is asked for donations or the play is sponsored, in this case by the Village Center.

The Puppeteers complimented the Village Center for its friendliness and cooperation and said that happiness for them, was performing free of charge here and at other campuses, wherever they find a warm day and persons ready to laugh and have fun.

The Goodweather Puppeteers will be in Tampa and will return to Orlando to play at Rollins.

Opera 'Superstar' Set For Muni Aud Tuesday, Nov. 23

"Superstar" comes to Orlando's Municipal Auditorium Tuesday, presented by the Original American Touring Company.

The rock opera based on the last days of Jesus Christ will be at 8 p.m.

The cast performs in concert the opera by Andrew Lloyd Webber and Tim Rice. The part of Jesus is played by Billy Barnes, whom the Milwaukee Journal called "a fine natural baritone capable both of great tenderness and dramatic boldness." Directors of the Company have added sections and rearranged songs, and have added the character the Virgin Mary, played by Bobbi Jaison.

"An exciting, emotional event. The crowd... stood and cheered until the cast repeated the title song as an encore," said Don Lewis of the Milwaukee Journal.

Reviews of the musical have highly commended the portrayal of the major characters, Judas Iscariot, Pilate, Herod and Mary Magdalene.

Controversy over "Superstar" is not only about the religious subject, but also because there is some question as to whether any public performance of any of the Webber-Rice songs is legal. The opera is also the first rock opera to be taken really seriously by critics and audience alike.

Tickets are $4.50 and $5.50.

First Recital Of Season Presented

By David Boelzner

The music department presented its first 1971-72 Student Recital featuring various student instrumentalists and vocalists Monday night in the Engineering Auditorium.

Penny Foshee began the program with the first of three Beethoven piano sonatas of the evening, the always-popular Opus 2, No. 1. Jackie Mertens, a mezzo-soprano, then followed with two Italian songs, "Love's Bond to Sever" and "Vergin, Tutto Amor."

Teresa Johnson, another mezzo-soprano whose voice has very good resonance, sang two songs by the French Composer Ernest Chausson, "Le Chearme," which was indeed charming, and "Les Papillons" in which the piano accompaniment illustrated the butterflies.

Judy Dodd then performed the second Beethoven sonata of the evening, Opus 31, No. 2 in G Major. The pianist combined good techniques and control with a mature musical interpretation to yield a very effective performance.

Dolores Bruns followed with two German songs, one by Schubert and the other by Richard Strauss, both of which accentuated her clear high register.

Joy Sadler, another soprano with a very warm and vibrant voice, sang the moving "Lia's Aria" from "L'Enfant Prodige" by Debussy. She also displayed a very effective and powerful high register.

Clarinetist Randy Woods, performed the Sonata in C Minor by the Baroque composer George Telemann, displaying good technique and control.

Karen Warschauer then delivered a rather meditative, though deliberate interpretation of Beethoven's "Tempest" Sonata, first movement.

Linda Schollosser gave an expressive rendition of a Mozart aria and the elaborate "Tacea is notte placida" from Verdi's "Il Trovatore."

Flutist Linda Hypes concluded the program beautifully with Howard Hanson's "Serenade." This moving and technically different piece accented the soloists' high register with a long series of runs climaxing in high, plaintive, sustained notes releasing on a descending scale, all played unfalteringly by the soloist.

Cheaper
in the long run

Gas will never cost you much. (You'll get up to 27 miles to the gallon.)

And the amount of oil you use is like a drop in the bucket. (It only takes 2.7 quarts and almost never needs more between changes.)

And the engine is air-cooled, so you don't have to spend a red cent for anti-freeze or rust inhibitors.

And you get more than your money's worth out of a set of tires.

But don't think buying a new Volkswagen is just another get-rich-quick scheme.

You have to wait until the second set of tires wears out.

Murphy Named 'Most Outstanding'

Five members of the FTU Wrestling Team won first place positions in their weight classes last Saturday at the Fort Myers AAU Invitational Tournament held in the Fort Myers YMCA.

Those wrestlers winning trophies for their first place achievements were: Walter Wilce in the 129 pound class, Paul Allard in the 122 pound class, Elio Junco in the 141 pound division, Dale Olson in the 158 pound class and Pat Murphy, who wrestled in the 135 pound class.
Murphy was also awarded another trophy for being picked the most outstanding wrestler by judges and officials at the meet. Competing against Murphy for this title was Tim Sillmon, an ex-Miami Dade wrestler who is now with the University of Tampa.

Georgia to compete first on December 1 with Georgia Tech in Atlanta, then to the University of Georgia at Athens on the 2nd, and finally the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga on December 3.

MOST OUTSTANDING-Pat Murphy was chosen by judges and officials at the Fort Myers meet as being the most outstanding wrestler present. Pictured above with Wrestling Coach Gerry Gergley, Murphy displays his trophies for outstanding wrestler and for taking first place in his 135-pound weight class.

According to Wrestling Coach Gerry Gergley, each wrestler grappler wrestled as little as two matches and as many as seven, depending on the number of contestants per match.
There were a total of 175 total entries at the meet, representing state powerhouse schools such as the University of Tampa, Florida State University, Miami-Dade North and Miami-Dade South.
In the upcoming days the FTU wrestling knights will travel to

ZETTIE McCRIMON

DON MATHIS

That's right. Suppose FTU held a basketball game and no one came. Suppose the men who donated countless hours of practice and sweat had to play before empty bleachers. When crowds of people come to watch a basketball game they involuntarily bring a driving force that worked directly on the basketball players as soon as spectators enter the gym.

The FTU Basketball Knights will be looking forward to this force on November 30 when they take on McDill Air Force Base in their first game of the season.

The game will be held in the Lake Highland Gym (formerly the College of Orlando) and will start at 8 p.m. that Tuesday.

FTU's top seven players against McDill will be Don Mathis, Mike Clark, Zettie McCrimon, Eddie Fluitt, Tom Bowie, Willie Gibson, and Ed Smith.

Mathis, who played for FTU last year, is a 6'4", 220 pound center-guard. Orlando's Mike Clark will play guard for FTU. The 6', 170 pound junior was leading scorer for FTU last year. Zettie McCrimon played basketball for Valencia Community College last

According to Head Coach Gene Clark, McDill has always been a strong contender, stressing the point that Air Force teams can vary from good to bad or vice versa as the season progresses.

Many months have passed since FTU began their nightly two-hour practice sessions at the Lake that of after all the hours of practice put in by these guys and then see a half filled grandstand of people." Clark challenges all fraternities to devise any means possible to get members and pledges to attend.

Highland Gym. Judging from individual player improvements and with scrimmage game with area junior colleges, Clark feels that FTU is ready to begin playing basketball. Some of the top-ten basketball teams in the U.S.

Clark wants to see the bleachers packed with screaming cheering students, faculty, and staff members. "Its discouraging to think capacity of 2000 or approximately one-third of the university's enrollment. He wants to see these seats filled with encouragement. In return he promises one of the fastest, most exciting games in FTU's history.

Students will be admitted free upon presentation of their I.D. card. Adults will be charged $1.50 at the door.

Soccer Club Wins Final Season Match

Without a questionable doubt, this has been the busiest, most active, as well as the most rewarding week in FTU sports history.

Last weekend Gergley's grapplers came home from a Fort Myers meet with eight trophies under their belts. Not bad for their first match of the season. Also the newly formed archery team took three trophies in the local Southeastern meet held in Sanford. But probably the most astounding sports event of the week occurred when FTU beat Shelton College to the tune of 6-5 in its last soccer meet for the fall quarter last Tuesday.

Only a few short weeks ago the same shelton college team beat the soccer knights 12-5. Team captain Bob Steadman just can't seem to put his finger on a reason how. Most of the players, however, agree that the team has worked more like a well-oiled machine lately with better coordination with on-the-field passes and dribbling.

Golfers To Compete In Local Tri-Match

The FTU Golf team tees off this afternoon at 12:30 p.m. in a tri-match against Stetson University and Embry Riddle. The match will be played at Deltona Country Club.

The team held a qualification round at the Deltona Course last Friday to determine who the six players for the match will be. Mark Stockwell, Mike Utz, Wayne Leland, Durry Howard, Greg Rodhegier and Rob Owens proved to be the low qualifiers.

Volleyball Starts, Week's Results Given

By BROADWAY BEAR

Intramural football is over, and now FTU students are getting their exercise by hitting a ball over a net. Though not as popular as sport as football, volleyball is a good team sport, and in order to have a successful team, everybody must play together. This year the intramural volleyball system is composed of five divisions, as more teams take part in the action.

Intramural Sports Shorts

The FTU Women's Athletic Association (WAA) will enter the Women's State College Volleyball Championship today at 2:30 p.m. and tomorrow at Rollins College.

The WAA is entering a team consisting of girls from the history department, elementary education and physical education.

According to PE instructor and WAA sponsor, Pat Higgenbotham, the team has been working hard in preparing for this tournament. "The team is new and has never been in competition together before. We plan on making the opposition really work for every point they get, Miss Higgenbotham said.

Women from all the major state junior and senior colleges will be participating in this meet, meaning that FTU will be up against harder and more experienced competition. An open invitation has been extended to all FTU students interested in watching this tournament.

COED VOLLEYBALL

November 29 is the entry deadline for coed volleyball. Entry forms can be picked up in the Intramural office or at the Kiosk. November 30 at 11 a.m. the tournament drawing and captain's meeting will be held at the PE Building.

Rules: No individual may play for more than one team. Three men and three women (alternately positioned) form a team. There is no limit on the number of players allowed on the rosters.

Archers Take Trophies In Southeastern Meet

A total of three trophies were won by the newly-formed FTU Archery Club last Saturday in the Southeastern Inter-collegiate Championships held at Stetson University in DeLand.

The women's team, composed of Dena Pickens, Lyvonne Harvey and Mo Wittkop won the first place trophy in their division. The mixed team, composed of Dena Pickens, Lyvonne Harvey, Mark Grossenbacher and Jeff Morton came home with the second place trophy in the mixed team division. Individual honors go to Dena Pickens who won the first place trophy in Women's Free Style, Lyvonne Harvey, who placed second in the Women's Free Style, and Mo Wittkop came in fourth in the Women's Freestyle.

As a result of these individual honors, Pickens and Harvey are now eligible to go to the National Archery Championship held at San Bernadino Valley State College in San Bernadino, Calif.

According to team captain Jeff Morton, "for only one month's practice, the team couldn't have done better." He apparently has some great hopes for the team because there are plans for FTU to host a state archery meet to be held on campus during April.

Pool Reopens In Spring

Starting November 18, the FTU swimming pool will be closed due to upcoming bad weather and a lack of attendance during the last few weeks. According to PE officials, it is not feasible to keep the pool open because of the costs involved. The olympic-sized pool is scheduled to reopen in spring quarter.

The equipment room of the Physical Education Building will be closed November 25 through December 8.

IF YOU WERE BORN TODAY:

Oh say, can you see? Shee Shells shee shells down by the shee shore? What I'm trying to say, is take a trip to the sea. Shore. (Who?) Your friends will be glad to see you leave, and may send you a little extra money to keep you away. In fact, depending on how well they can get along without you, they may send you a great deal of money. Your offensive personality the entire staff can do without.

IF YOU WERE NOT BORN TODAY:

That's not to say that you don't have an offensive personality too, but you just can't go to the beach.

AQUARIUS:

The stars say that you are friendly and kind-hearted. I know better. You grab the opportunity to be rude and disgusting, chalking each new insult up as a moral victory. You rejoice at the misery and mortification you cause others. You will get yours, however. A large, brown dog will eat your final project in a four-hour class, and your prof will never believe you. Justice wins out in the end.

PISCES:

Illness in the family will disrupt your plans this weekend. You will be the one to contract the illness, which will be terminal. To top it all off, if you live until Monday, you will discover that you have a paper and a final in each of your classes. You will not make it that long, however, so you needn't study.

ARIES:

The old saying reads "Eat, drink, and be merry, for tomorrow you may die." Follow that advice, but do so with careful temperance. If you don't die tomorrow, you may wish you hadn't eaten, drunken, and beed so merry today.

TAURUS:

There is a crossing of your early sun sign with Venus on the rise. This indicates a darkness riding on the horizon. It also indicates that you are getting up awfully early in the morning, to see Venus. That darkness on the horizon is last night leaving. Don't you wish it could be forgotten that easily? Go back to bed and try to sleep it off. Maybe she'll forget your name by the time you wake up.

GEMINI:

Good words are written in the stars. I will not repeat them though, because I'd lose readers. Instead I will leave a rule to live by. The great poet has said "A loaf of bread, a jug of wine and thou by my side" So be it, and pretty soon I'll be fat, drunk and stuck with a paternity suit.

CANCER:

Rejoice, lucky one! This week you should be very successful in your diet program. You should lose over 20 pounds by this time next week. I see that your legs will fall off at the knees. It may not be the most aesthetic thing that could happen, but you will lose weight.

LEO:

You are a leader and a jerk. You feel it your calling to direct the lives of everyone else, but, unfortunately, they do not feel the need to be led by you, as you are a clod and a jerk. You will fail at all business attempts and your marriage will fall apart. Other than that little bit of insight, you will not receive much good news today.

VIRGO:

You will inherit your Grandmother's spaghetti farm, and will have the chance to settle down and raise spaghetti with the little woman for the rest of your days. My advice would be to diversify. You never know. All the Italians in the world might must die all of a sudden, and then the bottom would fall out of the spaghetti market. Try raising duck lips for paper weights.

LIBRA:

Be forceful today, but not obnoxious. Exert yourself as your position requires. If you need to take action, today is the day. Strike, while the iron is hot. Then duck. (See Virgo for ducks.) Those under you do not respect you, because they feel you are not as well versed as you claim to be. They are right. You will never win their respect, so simply exercise your authority now, while you still have it to exercise.

SCORPIO:

Don't trust those close to you, like your children. To leave home may be inevitable, but when you return you will find that your house has been sold by your daughter to purchase a tape recorder and pay off various debts which she has been accruing for the past few years. Just try not to think about it while on your trip.

SAGITTARIUS:

Hi there, typewriter. How come you're not sending any more nifty vibes to my brain so that I might complete my lousy column? I could really use some good ideas. I could even use some mediocre ideas. How about what you consider to be lousy ideas?

CAPRICORN:

See Sagittarius.
